

LARRY F. GUSEMAN PRIZE IN MATHEMATICS

Dr. Larry Guseman was a favorite professor in the Math Dept. and served as Math Graduate Advisor from 1980 until his appointment in 1988 as the first Director of Graduate Studies for Texas A&M. Colleagues and students alike remember him for his wit and wisdom as well as his thoughtfulness and leadership. His dedication to A&M and in particular, to the math graduate students, was complete and untiring.

The L.F. Guseman Prize in Mathematics is an endowed award given each spring semester to a graduate student in math with high scholastic achievement who exemplifies the spirit and good will of Larry Guseman and who has demonstrated outstanding achievement in teaching, research or service.
